■ Just peachy . . . Anna Bligh commands push-ups from the group.

■ IT'S long been known that Anna Bligh is sticking around for the state's top job.

On Tuesday she proved she wasn't on the run from the responsibilities awaiting her – showing up to her regular running exercise at South Bank not in sports bra and sneakers but in a skirt and heels.

The Deputy Premier and Member for South Brisbane handed over a $19,000 cheque to Childhood Cancer Support.

The money, raised by the running group led by Pat Carroll, will go to helping support parents and families caring for sick children.
